

What's left to be discovered in health services and policy research – Laupacis

- How to integrate research into policy making in real time
- How to involve patients in health policy research (and priority setting)
- Developing effective methods of improving the appropriateness of diagnostic testing
- How to increase the public's use of public reporting
- Developing effective governance models that improve physician accountability and performance